DESCRIBES FIGHT

Sierra Madre Man Throws Light on Disputed Battle of Wounded Knee.

For some time past the Los Angeles Express has been giving space to a controversy regarding the battle of Wounded Knee in South Dakota during the winter of 1890-91. Various persons have expressed varying opinions regarding different phases of the contest and E. B. Grilley of Sierra Madre has been watching them with combined amusement and disgust. Statements of some of the correspondents of the Express have been far from accurate, he claims, some of them showing evident lack of information and others being grossly prejudiced.

SOURCE OF NAME.

One of the Express correspondents, Bartlett by name, has claimed that the battle was named for him, because it took place in front of his store and he was wounded in one knee, though taking no part in the battle. Bartlett further claims to have been a captain of the Indian police. Both of these claims Mr. Grilley emphatically disputes. He says the battle took place on Wounded Knee creek, which had been so named long previous to the battle, and the name of the creek was therefore given to the battle. He also says the Indian police officers were invariably Indians, hence Bartlett could not have been a captain of the Indian police.

It has been charged by Bartlett and other writers in the Express that the battle was not a battle but a massacre in which the Indians had no chance and men, women and children were shot down heartlessly. Mr. Grilley's story of the battle puts a different light on the situation. He told his story for the News, saying:

MR. GRILLEY'S STORY.

"For ten years before the battle of Wounded Knee and for nearly ten years afterward I conducted a trading station licensed by the government on the edge of the Bad Lands. It was on the line of the Pine Ridge and Rosebud agencies, at the Mouth of Black Pipe creek. I knew every Indian in that part of the country and the facts regarding the battle of Wounded Knee and the preceding trouble.

"Trouble began when Big Foot, the successor to Sitting Bull in command of the Sioux, gathered his tribe for a religious ceremonial. Their first camp was near my store. Some of the cattlemen and others objected to their presence in the neighborhood and the troops compelled the Sioux to retire to the Bad Lands. Within two weeks things began to look more menacing and an outbreak was feared. The 7th cavalry were near at hand, together with a detachment of Indian police under Brave Eagle.

INDIANS PROVOKED CONFLICT.

"Brave Eagle and one of his men visited the Sioux camp with a demand

TRUSTEES MEET

Regular Session of the City Fathers Held Last Evening.

At last night's meeting of the city trustees the ordinance establishing a "speed limit" and prohibiting jumping on and off electric cars in motion was passed. The board voted to notify the Pacific Electric company that the deep gutter around the station at the intersection of Baldwin and Central must be brought somewhere near grade or covered with suitable planking. The board voted to accept the plat of the Gurhardy tract in the northwest part of town when certain conditions are complied with, looking to the proper control of storm water in the streets. Marshal Lehmer announced the appointment of Messrs. W. W. Felgate and Jack Stevenson as deputies and they were sworn in.

that the Indians give up their arms, which they agreed to do. Accordingly a cavalry captain with thirty-three privates went to the Sioux Camp to take over the arms and ammunition. The Indians were giving up their arms peaceably when a crazy Indian named Blue Hair shot the captain. A brief encounter followed as the soldiers tried to escape but three of them were killed, the remainder returning to the main camp immediately and giving the alarm. The Indians had "tasted" blood and a battle was inevitable.

"The cavalry advanced upon the Indians with their gatling guns, opening fire upon the braves who were in the basin of Wounded Knee creek. The braves showed fight but had little chance against the rapid fire guns. To make it worse, and giving the battle the appearance of a massacre, the squaws and their children ran in a panic to where the braves were being mowed down, instead of retreating out of danger. Consequently a large number of them were killed, though the soldiers should not be blamed as they have been by some of the writers in the Express. One writer has referred to the 7th cavalry as being especially prejudiced against the Sioux, and seeking revenge in this battle. It was the 7th cavalry, but this writer has confused them with the old 7th, which was wiped out in the battle where Custer lost his life. The battle was not a massacre in intent and no charge of unusual brutality or savagery should be made against the soldiers.

SPEAKS FROM EXPERIENCE.

"If any one doubts my ability to give a correct account of the battle and the entire situation there let them ask about any detail and I will give them accurate information. I was one of the first men to reach the scene after the battle, and remember distinctly the lay of the land and movements of the opposing forces which could be easily traced.

"Another authority on the subject is the old Sioux Chief Flat Iron, at the Indian village near East Lake park. I knew him well and when I went to the village about a year ago he recognized me and insisted on my joining in a dance with him and the rest of the Indians. He will back up all I have said about the battle."

MR. HILL GOES TO SPOKANE

Former Editor of the News Removes with His Family to Washington.

Mr. C. W. Hill and family left for San Pedro yesterday, where they embarked on the steamer Roanoke for Portland. They will go immediately to Spokane, Washington, where they will make their home. Universal regret will be felt by the people of Sierra Madre at the departure of this family from the city. In their stay here they have gained for themselves a high place in the esteem of the community.

Mr. Hill took charge of the News when "good will" was something sadly lacking among the assets of the business. In the thirteen months during which he conducted the business he succeeded in placing the News in the position of respect in the community which it should rightfully occupy. He was always active in support of any project making for the welfare and up-building of the community. He retains some of his property interests in Sierra Madre, having abundant faith in the future growth of the city. But other interests in the east requiring personal attention seem to make it imperative that he reside at some place within easier reach.

LIBRARY BENEFIT.

Spanish Dinner Proves Huge Success in Every Respect.

Quite the most brilliant gathering for any public benefit given in this city recently was the assembly at Hotel Sierra Madre Wednesday evening at the Spanish dinner and dance given in aid of the Public Library. The guests were treated to a royal feast and thoroughly enjoyed the hospitality of those in charge. The dinner was served in courses, and from soup to desert was thoroughly Spanish.

In the parlor, sun parlor and gentlemen's smoking room were card tables for those who cared to participate. After the dinner the dining room was cleared and dancing was enjoyed by many of those present. Great credit is due the ladies who had charge of the affair as a whole and of the various features of the entertainment, also for the gentlemen who assisted in the work.

The directors of the Library Association desire to make special acknowledgment of their obligations to the following persons, in connection with the Spanish dinner:

To Mrs. W. J. Lawless, whose supervision and personal efforts were indispensable to the success of the dinner; to Mrs. Britton and Mrs. Collins, for the use of the Hotel Sierra Madre; to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Jones, for the decorations; to Mesdames W. S. Andrews, B. W. Andrews, Brownson, Dietz and Holahan, for aid in the preparation of the dinner; to Mesdames Collins, Smith, F. Wright and J. Wright, as hostesses; to Messrs. Fairbanks, Burton Andrews, Cabot Yerxa, Harry Yerxa, Robert Merrill and Raymond Andrews, for aid in serving.

BUSY MEETING

Board of Trade Transacted Much Business Important Business Monday Evening.

Monday evening's meeting of the Board of Trade was one of the most largely attended held in several months. Several new members were admitted and the general spirit of the meeting was excellent. Several important matters were up for discussion, definite action was taken on some questions and others were placed in the hands of proper committees for further development.

The matter of a freight depot for the Pacific Electric was one of the things considered. It was recalled that the company had been given the land between Baldwin and Mountain Trail avenues at a low figure upon the specific promise that it was to be used as the site for a freight depot. The unsightly piles of freight and occasional consignments of explosives that are left unprotected in the street afford abundant arguments in support of the demand for better accommodations. The use of the passenger station for a freight depot in rainy weather is also a source of inconvenience to patrons of the line. It was voted that a strong kick be registered with the Pacific Electric authorities and that the effort be not confined to half hearted and sporadic protests but that the matter be pushed till some tangible results are realized. The transportation committee, with W. S. Andrews as chairman was placed in charge of the campaign.

HIGH SCHOOL WORK.

A committee composed of Messrs. S. T. DePencier, J. J. Hart and A. S. Mead was appointed, after some discussion of the matter, to confer with the school trustees regarding high school work. It is a matter of the greatest importance that the standard of the public schools be kept at the highest possible point. Heretofore the proximity of the Pasadena high school and of Throop Institute has made it seem an unnecessary expense to provide high school facilities in this city. However, the number of students now paying eight or ten dollars monthly for fees and transportation to Pasadena raises the question of the advisability from the economical point of view of providing high school work in our own public school. It was suggested that the work could be developed gradually, perhaps only first-year work being given at first, the higher grades to be added later.

ADVERTISING FUNDS.

Funds for advertising Sierra Madre are something of which the Board has felt a continual need. The membership dues provide hardly more than is necessary to carry on the routine work of the Board, such as secretary's correspondence and other items which cause continual expense. Newspaper advertising on a large scale is expensive and cannot be indulged in unless special funds are provided. After a discussion which brought out the facts regarding the Board's finances it was voted that the advertising committee be empowered to collect contributions for a special advertising fund. If possible, regular monthly subscriptions will be secured from business houses and private citizens. While no active campaign is likely to be started until later in the year it was thought best to secure monthly subscriptions dating from the present time so far as possible so the committee would have a working fund whenever it was thought best to begin the campaign.

The Board voted to extend an invitation to the Los Angeles County Weekly Press association to hold its next outing at Mt. Wilson, stopping at Sierra Madre for a day on the way. Investigation will be made regarding necessary expenses of the trip and a formal invitation extended to the editors at their next meeting.

SUNDAY MAILS.

Sunday mail for Sierra Madre seems to be a possibility of the near future. The matter was brought up Monday evening and the prevailing sentiment favored it if it was found to be feasible. At present there is no incoming or outgoing mail on Sunday. The latter is regarded by some as even more important than that the mail should be received and distributed on Sunday morning and the office kept open for an hour or more. At present the incoming Sunday mail accumulates until Monday and necessitates a large amount of work in distributing on Monday morning. It was pointed out that the office was closed about an hour and a quarter last Monday morning during the distribution of the morning mail. The matter was placed in the hands of the transportation committee, to be taken up with the proper authorities.

Uniformity in the planting of shade trees along the public streets was put forward by Prof. Hart as something greatly to be desired. The removal of some of the trees along Central avenue has left an opportunity along this line and Prof. Hart suggested that some action be taken toward securing the planting of such trees as would secure the best results from an artistic and utilitarian point of view. It was stated that the local Park Commission is working out plans along this line and the Board of Trade voted an expression of interest in and approval of such work.

The Board of Trade never took more appropriate action in recognition of worthy efforts than when it authorized the following self explanatory resolution:

Whereas: Mr. Richard K. Fox of New York, publisher of the Police Gazette, and his sons, Charles J. Fox and Richard K. Fox Jr., have done much to arouse interest in clean manly sport of all kinds, and

Whereas: They have lately organized and caused to be held at Sierra Madre the first of a series of the most unique athletic contests ever held in this country, the footrace up the Mt. Wilson trail, giving valuable prizes to the contestants; and this event has caused the City of Sierra Madre to be given much desirable publicity in the press of the country,

Resolved, that the Sierra Madre Board of Trade, to show its appreciation of such efforts, hereby tenders to the Messrs. Fox a hearty vote of thanks and commendation.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to each of these gentlemen and be spread upon the minutes of the Board.

CHRISTIAN ALLIANCE.Met Sunday Afternoon at the Town Hall With Good Attendance.

A delightful meeting was held Sunday afternoon at the town hall under the auspices of the Christian Alliance. The speaker, Mr. Seely, plainly brought out the high calling of an ambassador of Heaven's government and the duty laid upon him of giving out nothing but the instructions of his superior. Jesus himself was his Father's ambassador, and spoke only his Father's word, not his own view or opinion. He was truly faithful. So must we to be honored of God. God's word being eternal truth, we present certainty to human hearts to rest upon when we give Christ's plain statements. We stand for something definite and convincing when we are wholly loyal to Christ. We help to truly mould the views of men into harmony with God's view of things. This makes our lives count and we have a sound mind.

To be of use in the world, said the speaker, a man must stand for God's word as truth. If Christ says that both a new birth from out of the water and out of the spirit is essential to entering the kingdom of heaven, then these two new births must take place in the case of both Christ and his apostles. Jesus was baptized in water by John and in the Holy Spirit by his Father in heaven. This produced the two births. If Christ says he was the beginning of the Creation of God, then we believe it for it is eternal truth. Thus can we all stand for Christ's teaching and be stating veritable facts.

The leader of the meeting gave out the great object of the Christian Alliance to be that the business men of Sierra Madre may know what is being set forth in these meetings and be interested to attend. There were twice as many men present as there were ladies, and they seemed deeply interested in what was set forth as certain truth. It is the purpose of those in charge to set forth the character of Christ's atonement for our sins, the character of his resurrection to forgive sins, the Divinity of Christ, His theology and second coming as Emperor of the World.

Bentham, of Sierra Madre, has engaged to be its first principal. Mrs. Bentham's training at the School of Technology, in Boston, is an assurance of her intellectual equipment for her work, but her fitness for it is attested by the honored place which she fills in the Marl-say that the success of any school under the management of so wise and versatile a woman as Mrs. Bentham is assured."

Editor Wayman of the Newport News has been having fun by clipping extracts from patent medicine ads appearing in various papers and appending the names of the respective editors to them as having made the statements. It is rather amusing when a baldheaded editor is represented as boosting a hair restorer, and an old maid editor is made to tell her experience in raising a large family with the help of some colic nostrum. Luckily Brother Wayman had no chance at this paper or its editor on the score of running the abominable patent medicine ads which are a disgrace to so many papers. The News refuses to impose on its readers and discount its value to legitimate by admitting this sort of stuff to its columns.

"Dead, The Downey Dispatch, Aged 6 Yrs. & 6 Wks.," is the caption that appears on the first page of the Downey Dispatch of last week. Editor Heckethorn had announced the week previous that last week's issue would see the finish. Two papers in a town no larger than Sierra Madre and less favorably situated were twice as many as the town could support. The plant was sold to C. C. Mann who removes it to Covina where he will start a paper.

The Eagle Screams.

No one in Sierra Madre, looking down upon the peaceful clump of trees that hides El Monte out there in the valley, would dream of the commotion that has been going on there for the past few weeks. Editor Whitaker of the Gazette and Cashier Snell of the First National bank have been indulging in a war of words, which has involved a considerable portion of the population. Snell is a socialist and Whitaker is a patriot. Brother Whitaker expressed some sentiments that angered Snell and then allowed the latter to reply through the columns of the Gazette. Snell filled three columns with a lot of theoretical tommy-rot and capped the climax by urging the red flag as the true emblem of liberty and saying he could see no beauty in the Stars and Stripes. What Editor Whitaker did to Snell in the next issue of the Gazette made some warm reading. It was calculated to make anyone but a frothing socialist want to crawl into a hole and pull the hole in after him. The Gazette also began the publication of letters on the subject from its readers which made almost as warm reading. Anyone who wants to stir up a hornets' nest in El Monte or any other live American town can easily do so by suggesting the substitution of a red rag for the Stars and Stripes.

Telescope Mounting at the Peak

The big 5-ton casting which will support most of the weight of the big telescope in the Mt. Wilson observatory is at the peak at last. The trip up the trail was completed last week. It was almost too much for the heavy gasoline truck and a four-mule team had to be called upon. The total weight of the truck and its load was nearly thirteen tons and the toll road stood the strain in good shape. The problem of getting the big forks of the mounting to the peak was one of the most difficult in the completion of the telescope and the professors in charge are feeling good over their success.

Children's Day.

Next Sunday will be observed as Children's Sunday at the Congregational church. Special services will be held in the morning at 11 o'clock. There will be music by the Sunday school choir and by the Infant Class. Dr. Campbell will deliver a sermon prepared especially for the young people on "Birds of the Bible." The Sunday school will meet at 10 o'clock instead of 9.45 as usual. A special offering will be taken for Sunday school missionary work.

Grafters Indicted.

The indictment of some of the Imperial Valley land speculators has caused a temporary halt in the promoting of the Imperial Valley Collegiate Institute under the auspices of the Congregational church. One of the alleged conspirators was formerly owner of the Heber townsite where the college was to have been located and fear of complications in the title to the land is the cause of the delay. Dr. Campbell declares, however, that the college is assured, for several towns want it located within their bounds and there is no doubt of ample support being given even though the Heber project falls through.

A story, said to be new, of Balzac, is related by a French contemporary. A burglar gained admission to Balzac's house, and was soon at work, by the light of the moon, at the lock of the secretaire in the novelist's chamber. Balzac was asleep at the time, but the movements of the intruder aroused him. The burglar, who was working most industriously, paused. A strident laugh arrested his operations, and he beheld by the moonlight the novelist sitting up in bed, his sides aching with laughter. "What is it that makes you merry," demanded the burglar. "I laugh," replied the author of "Pere Gariot," "to think that you should come in the night without a lantern to search my secretaire for money, when I can never find any there in broad daylight."

Camp Kinks.

Damp, useless matches have exasperated almost every camper at some time in his wanderings. Some of the water-proof match boxes serve their intended purpose and others seem to be intended merely to keep the water on the inside, with the matches. A correspondent of Recreation tells of a convenient method of water-proofing the matches themselves. Get a cup of shellac and dip the matches head first in this for half their length, then lay aside to dry. When dry, carry them in the most convenient pocket and no rainstorm will affect them.

Several recipes for water-proofing tents with paraffine and benzine have appeared in the papers, but it has remained for some tent maker to give the exact proportions. Put two quarts of benzine in a can which has a capacity of at least three quarts. Melt a pound of paraffine wax and pour it into the benzine. As this mixture gets too thick to use in about 45 minutes it should be used immediately. The amount given will thoroughly cover 36 square feet of material.

A simple device for making easier the task of scaling fish, especially the little ones, may be prepared with a small stick and a jack knife. Take a stick about as large as your little finger and sharpen one end like a pencil. Run it down through the fish's mouth about two-thirds the length of his body. You will find it stiffens the body and makes the removal of the scales much easier.

WHAT IS A REAL ESTATE BARGAIN?

In purchasing a piece of property, there are several general qualifications which need to be considered, such as climate, water, transportation facilities, "close-in-ness," relative valuation, etc.

One must also consider the purpose for which the land is intended—a farmer does not look for acreage on Spring street, Los Angeles, nor would an architect buy 40 acres in the San Joaquin on which to erect a sky-scraper. Even in land there is a fitness.

These are general conditions applicable to all real estate purchases. When people want their "buy" to be a safe investment they must get it in some locality that is growing so steadily that the value of the real estate must increase with the growth of the section.

These conditions are found at their best in Sierra Madre. Furthermore, the unsurpassed location and healthfulness of the place will always create a demand for Sierra Madre property.

Ideal conditions, unsurpassed location, limited area, increasing population—any person of less than ordinary foresight can see that any property owned here is safe, more so than on the usual loans, with the additional advantage of increasing valuation.

must be more than this. It must not only have these qualifications but it must be priced so far below market value that the purchaser can turn his money at a profit. It must be a speculation without the risk.

We Have the Best Bargains in Sierra Madre
